

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will not only increase tension among passengers, it will compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively.

If you wish to see more trouble on aircraft than ever before, just allow people to use cell phones onboard aircraft in the air or on the ground. As inconsiderate as people are today of each other, it would be very unsafe to allow anyone to make a telephone booth out of an aircraft cabin at any altitude. I can only guarantee that blood will be shed in flight if this is allowed and I will drive rather than fly when possible.

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Eric Nelson
